

Access Time-outs

The web login and web application launch pages are an access portal, which permit the user to restart (launch) IOL, change settings and passwords. For this reason, the login page expires after 8 hours. This expiration does not effect the IOL application, which runs in a separate window. After a period of inactivity for 8 hours, your session will be automatically closed. If your connection is lost or broken, your session will be held for one hour so you can log back in and return to the screen where your session was lost.